

Quarterly Field Report

The survey team visited eleven sites along the northern ridge and recorded soil samples, water levels and vegetation cover. Preliminary results suggest a steady recovery since the last season.

Two sites showed unusual erosion near the creek bed. We recommend a follow-up visit in spring to confirm the pattern.